Weatherization Program

A program administered by the Redevelopment Authority of the County of Fayette, PA

Updated 07/13/21

About the Weatherization Program

The Redevelopment Authority's Weatherization Program started in 1975 and was one of the first few weatherization programs in Pennsylvania. The program provides assistance to low-income households for energy efficiency improvements, often reducing both energy consumption and costs by as much as 23%. This assistance is provided by the Authority's experienced in-house staff of Weatherization Technicians.

With funding from the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP), the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) Weatherization Assistance Program, and various local utility companies, the Redevelopment Authority's Weatherization Program has been able to assist over 9,000 households throughout Fayette County. As with other programs administered by the Redevelopment Authority, while the LIHEAP and DOE funding are Federal resources, they are provided to the County through Pennsylvania's Department of Community and Economic Development (DCED).

How does the program work?

Energy reduction assistance begins with a Weatherization Auditor performing an energy audit and basic furnace safety check. This audit will provide the Installation Technicians with information needed to decide the most cost effective measures to perform on each dwelling. The Technicians will also utilize a blower door to find and reduce outside air infiltration and heat loss. If needed, a heating contractor will perform a furnace cleaning and tune up, a follow-up safety inspection or make repairs to heating systems. All customers will receive energy education.

Who qualifies for the program?

This program is available to owners and renters alike for both houses and mobile homes. Households receiving assistance must be qualified based on income. The program is open to those whose income is 200% or below the Federal Poverty Income Level. See reverse of this brochure for income limit details. HUD updates these income limits yearly.

Dwellings weatherized within a 15 year period are ineligible. Applications expire yearly. This keeps the waitlist moving and application process up to date.

Once installed, these energy saving measures will help to reduce your heating and cooling costs for years to come.
